About this course

In summer 2018, a herd of 32 bison were introduced to a 220 acre section of Cedar Creek Ecosystem Science Reserve. The land they grazed all summer has been part of a long-term investigation into the conservation, restoration and maintenance of oak savannas, and the bison are the latest piece of the management puzzle. Come learn about Cedar Creek, bison, savanna research and more from one of the project scientists and coordinator of Cedar Creek's public programs!
